Hi Kathryn, and Kay,

Thank you for the opportunity to provide input for EPA's Port Quendall Clean up.

I believe I am, or once was, a party of record for this project, though I haven't received any more notice about it for some years. I have attended numerous meetings with numerous officials in my 15+ year service as a Renton Parks Commissioner, King County Park Ambassador for May Creek, and Kenndale resident. I also work for the Seattle Aquarium and Chair the Board for the Environmental Science Center. I am also very active in salmon recovery efforts with Renton, King County, the Seattle Aquarium, WRIA 8, and Seattle Public Utility's Adaptive Management Work Group, on which I serve with Federal, State, County, and Tribal Representatives.

My main concern for the Port Quendall property is that the natural shoreline of Lake Washington and the public's access to it be restored and preserved. We also want to see this site restored to its natural function supporting salmon habitat and the sockeye, coho, and chinook runs that utilize it. We are also concerned about potential light pollution impacting salmon during and after development. We want to limit or eliminate that pollution. I know this will be more directly impacted after the site is cleaned up and as it's developed. If I am not currently identified as a party of record for EPA's work, please register me as such. Please advise who the owners of the property will be once clean up is completed, as far as you know, and any other information you think might be helpful to me and the communities I represent in these proceedings.

Very much appreciated your background documents, they are very helpful. I've included Ms. Morrison with this email to echo my request that I be included on any further communications about this site. Would love to take advantage of any opportunities to tour the site with your officials if that becomes possible.

Thanks again for your time and consideration.
